Here we are folks. But where is here? It's time to start movin' c where are we going? Before we can decide where the next stop might be, maybe we should retrace the steps that have already made.

Like the ripples which disperse when a pebble is dropped in the center of a lake, let yourself look back into the corners of your mind. Let G.S.C. be our closest memory. Yet, search for the seemingly lost ones.

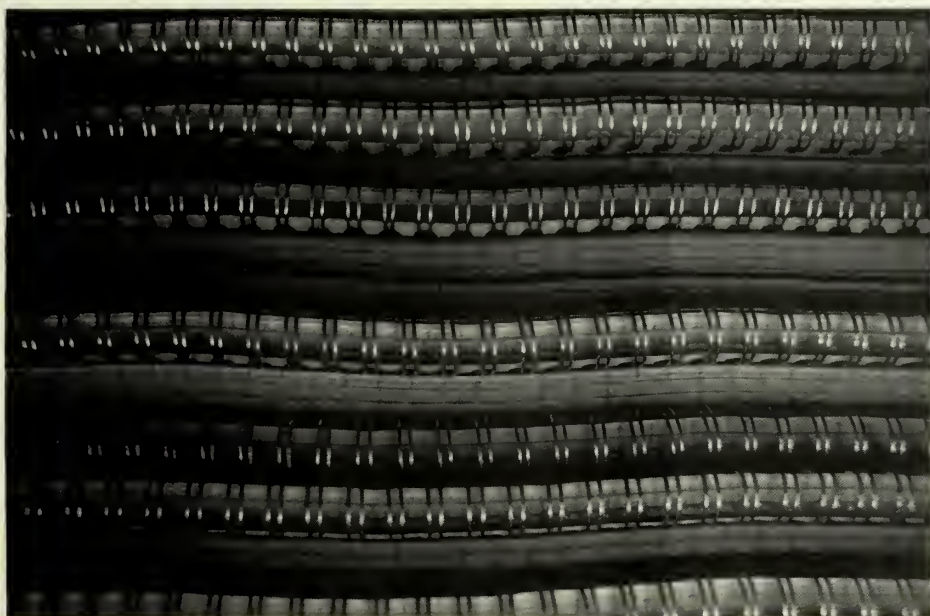

Delve not just into the past four years — go further. Let high school serve as a stepping stone and keep recalling until you are once again seeing through a child's eyes. Look here where everything was simple, uncomplicated and honest.

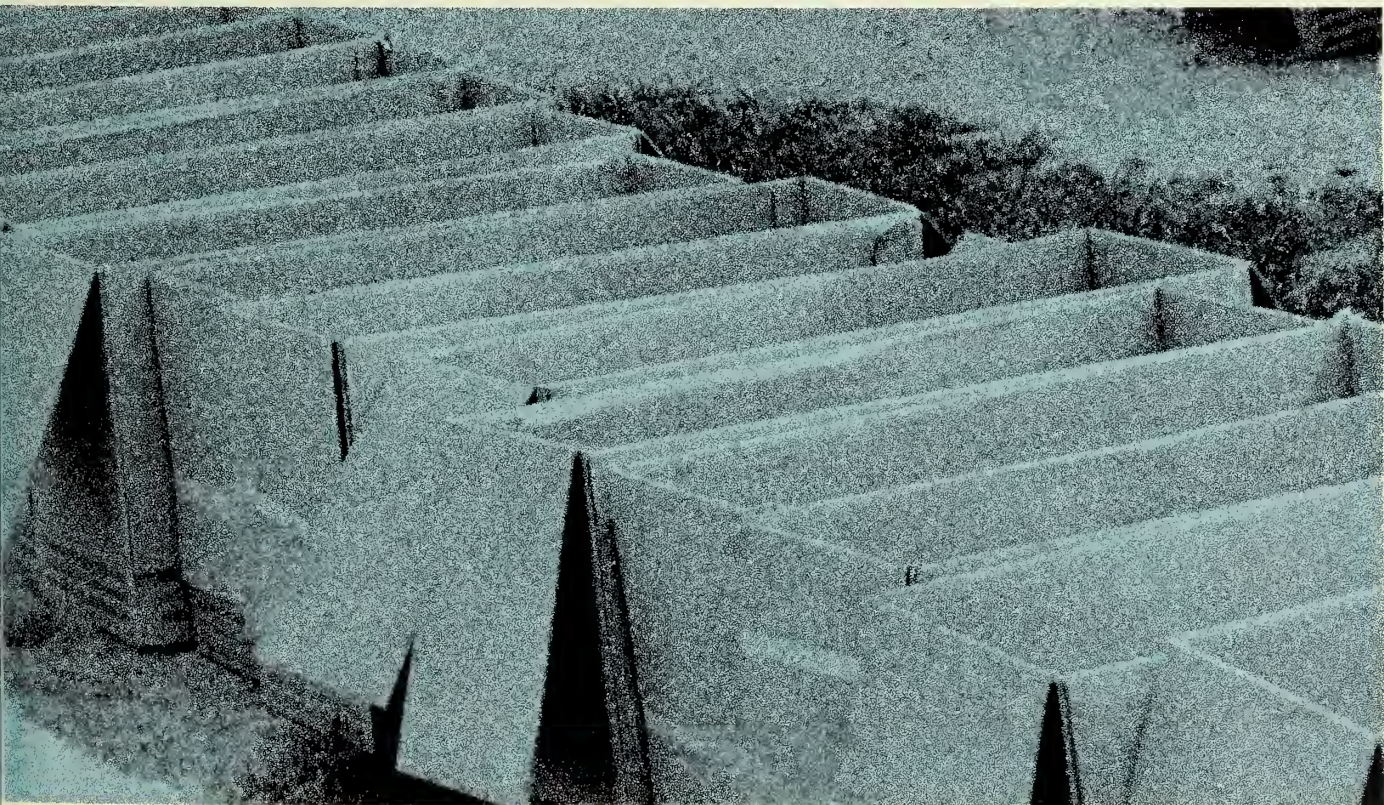

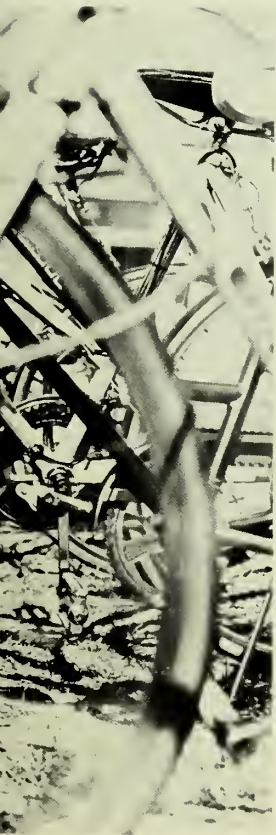

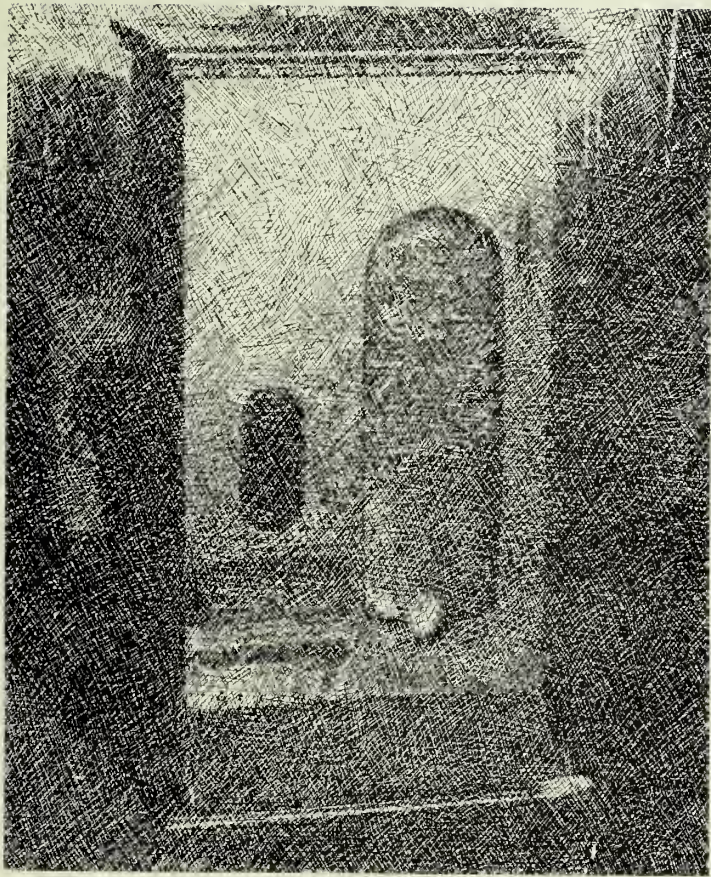

Build your future on what you can see.
Completing a total reminiscence will only allow the present and future to come into focus.

The 1976 IMAGE is serving as a mirror in the collection of distant faded shadows. Recover these shadows and change them into pictures. Pictures which will in turn be used to build memories on.

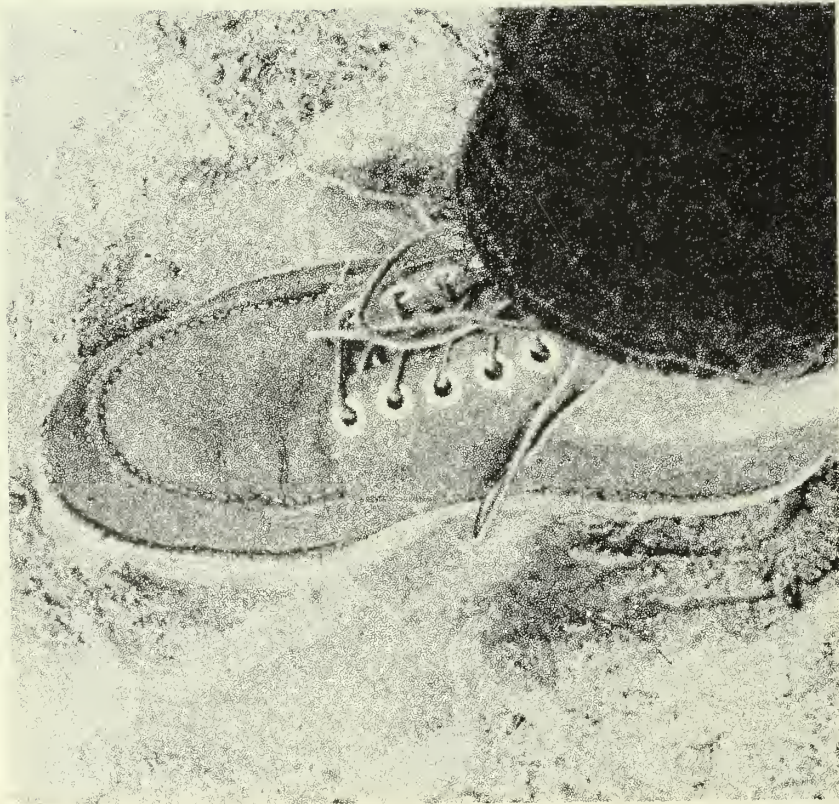

A small house well filled, is better than an empty palace.

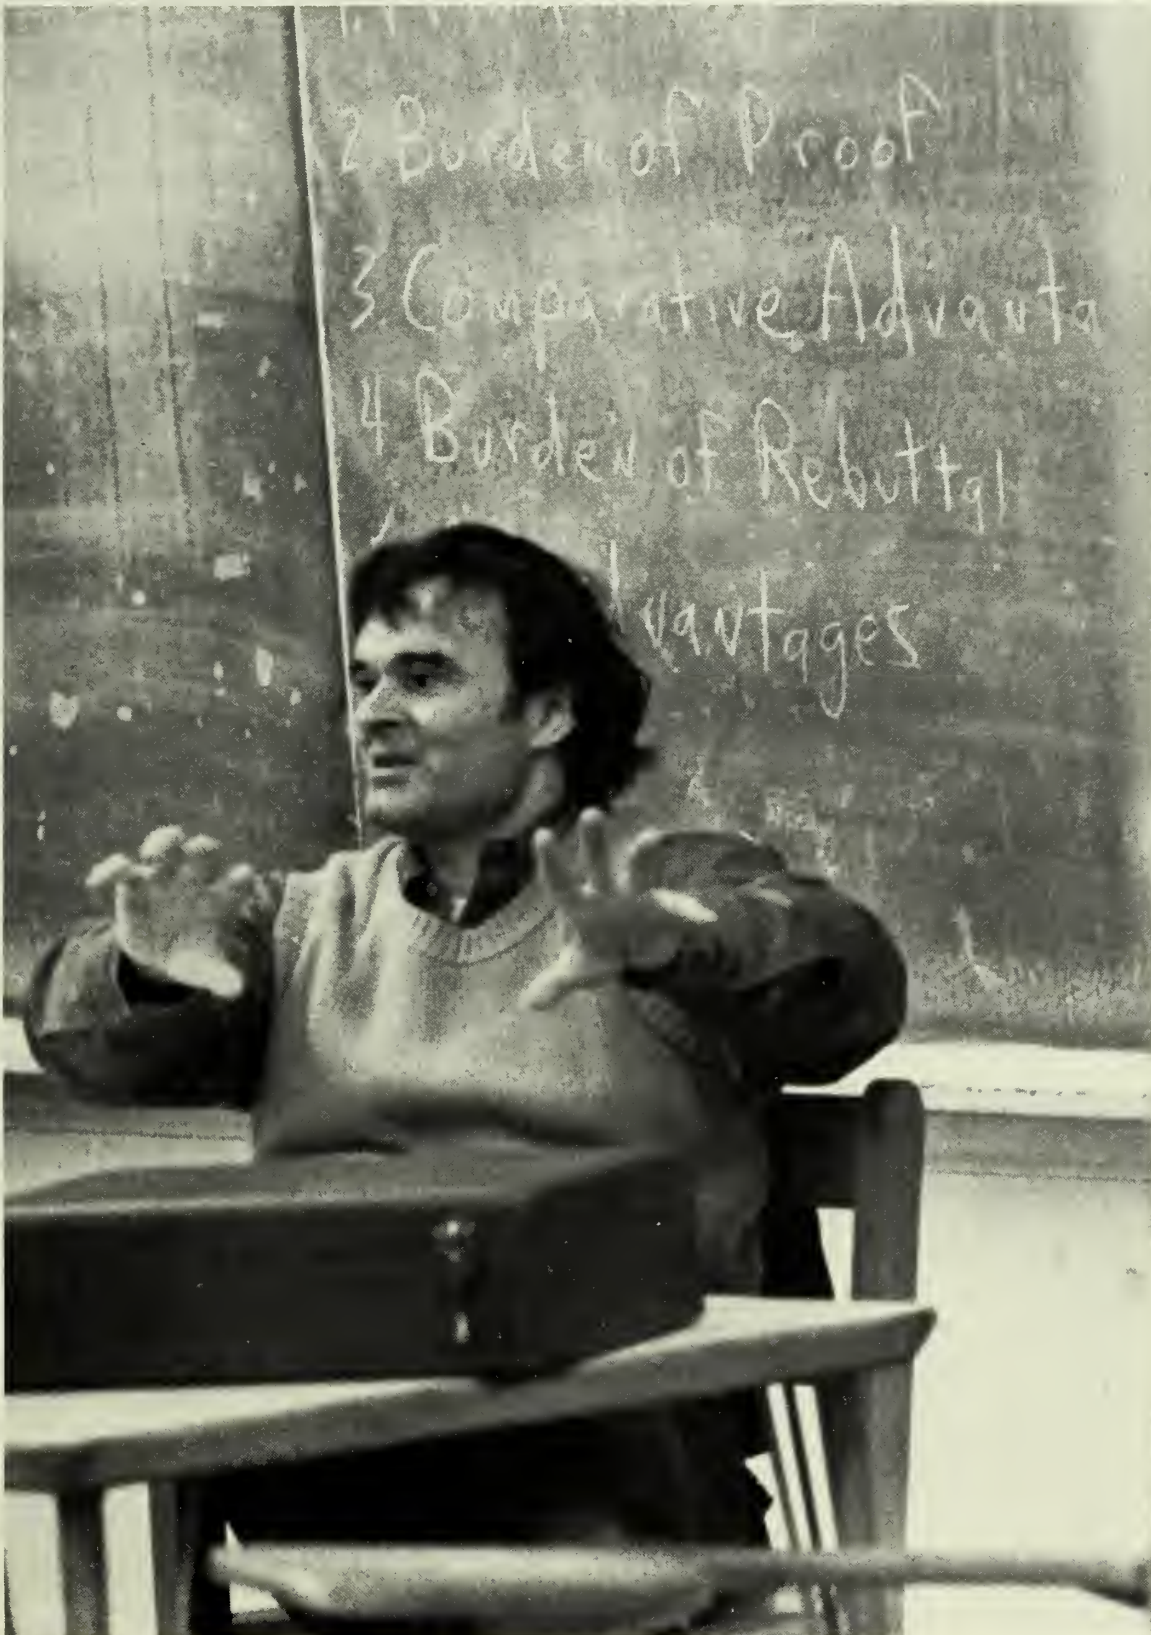

There is something I have been realizing lately. If I let myself go and glide through my life, feelings and experiences, I seem to absorb an enormous amount of peace.

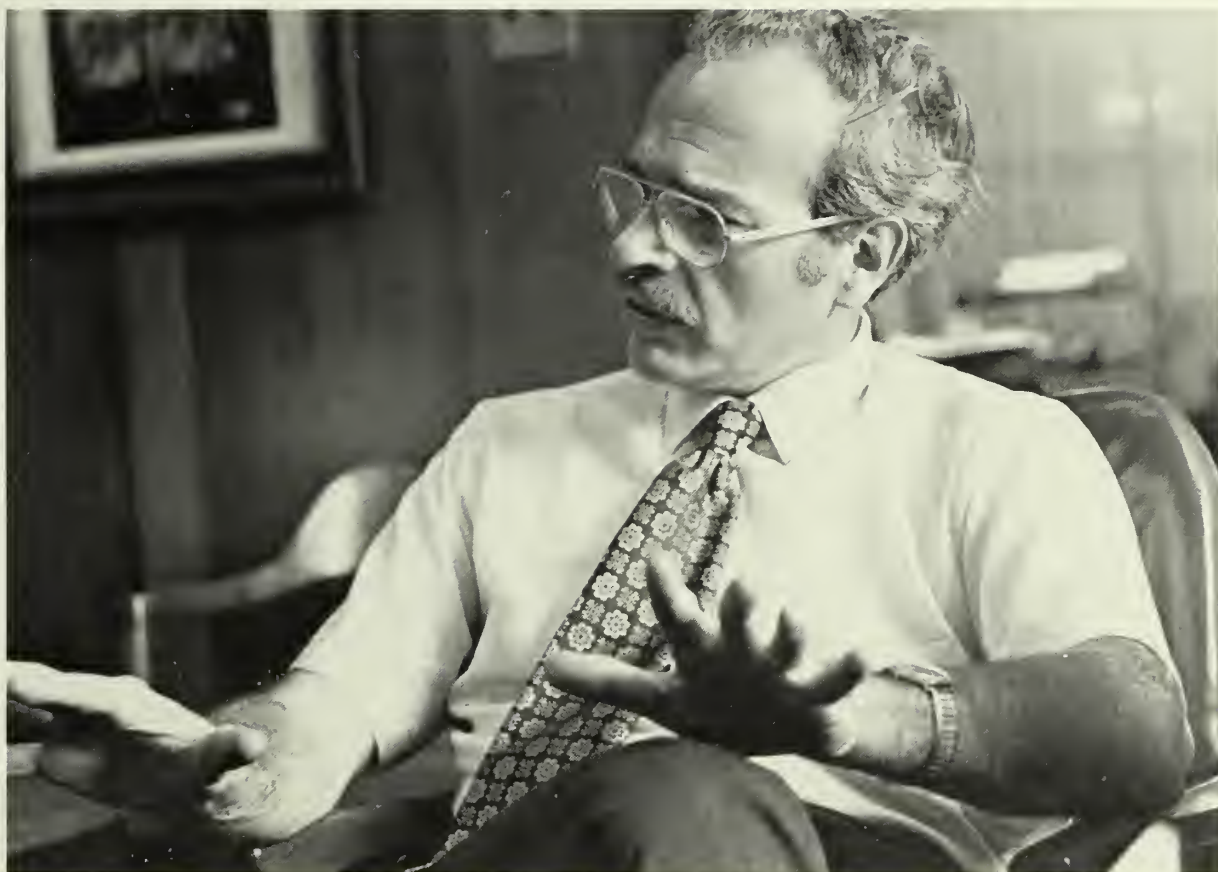

FACULTY

Dear Dr. Chamberlain,

It is hard to believe that it has been four years since many of us first came to Glassboro as bewildered freshmen. Much has taken place in those years, providing us with new experiences. Hopefully we are now seasoned seniors and a little less bewildered.

In the years previous to this it was you who saluted graduating seniors with warm wishes in a yearbook letter. Now it is with pride that we, the Class of 1976, break tradition and choose to honor you with this letter.

Thus the tables are turned. We've seemingly beaten you to the punch. Congratulations, Mark, we wish you well always.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming 75-76 offered something for everyone. From the sports enthusiast, beauty queen buffs and rock freaks right down the line to include the "I love a parade" people.

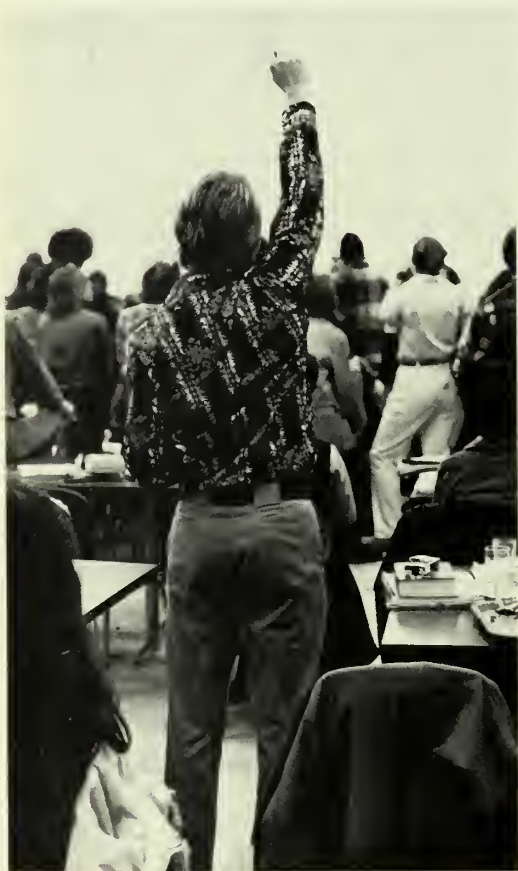

Dear Santa,

All of us at GSC have been very good this year. Students and administrators alike donated time and money to raise funds for the needy of Gloucester County. Some of us bumped, played pinochle, got hit with pies or swallowed goldfish to reach our goal . . . We didn't quite make it but everyone had a helluva good time anyway. Oops, sorry Santa. Hope that last remark doesn't mean we're off your list.

Love,
Santa's helpers

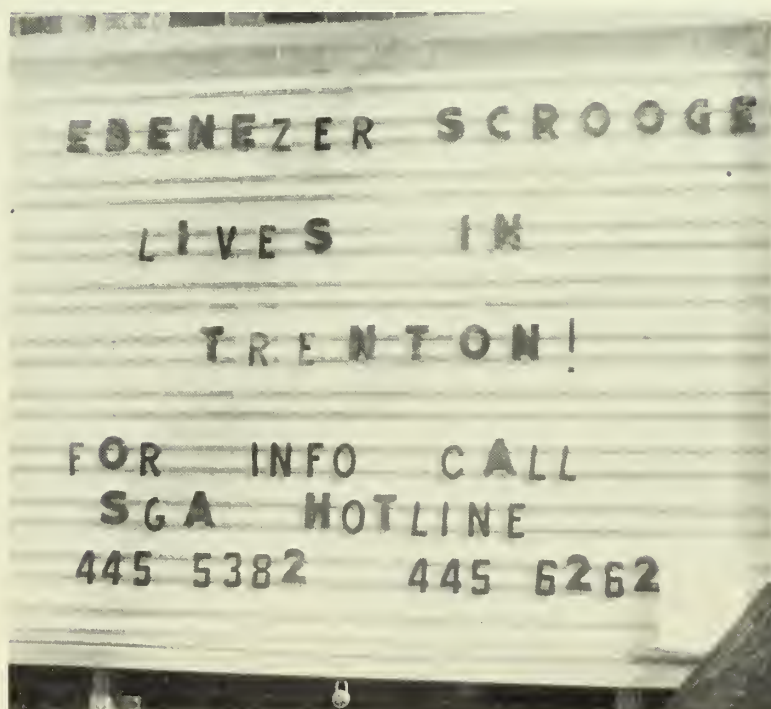

By looking at the determined, concerned and questioning faces of the many who attended the December 19th rally, one can actually feel the type of mood which was prevalent. Why questioning? Because it's difficult to understand the proposed cuts to higher education. Why concerned? Because regardless of what some people may think, it's our future which is being placed on the chopping block. And why determined? Because this time we've been pushed just a little too far and somewhere someone is going to answer for it.

We deliberated about where to place these particular pages. For many this could characterize an event; for others it's an every day occurrence. Some may even consider it a sport. Not only seniors indulge. Somewhere on campus there probably is a club for it with numerous members. However, it had to be included. Let's face it, some of us never would have made it this far without tipping the bottle.

Lines meet you everywhere from Freshman orientation clear through till Senior year. You patiently (or is it impatiently) wait on line for registering, to get in the Rat, to buy some food, to get some money, to even board a bus to get out of this place for the weekend. You look around — my God, you're even standing on line for graduation.

But soon you'll be gone and the lines you think will diminish. Don't be fooled my friend — for in a few months you will be joining the ranks of another great line. Stand still graduate — you are on the unemployment line!

nice too!

What memories come to mind when you recall the grueling eight weeks of student teaching? Do you see spitballs aimed at your face, uncontrollable kids, fighting in the aisles, millions of lesson plans and observations? Or do you see creative classrooms, students learning and a rewarding experience? For many it was an awakening . . . For many it was a disappointment . . . What was it for you?

"STRAW DOGS"
A GARY MCINERNEY PRODUCTION

An magnificent epic on the themes of collaboration and resistance

The Sorrow and The Pity

A tension is created, between the people on the screen and in the audience, that gives the film the effect of explosion.

One of the greatest films ever made—The Sorrow And The Pity—is a contribution to history, to social psychology, to anthropology, and to art. If there is any justice in the world, Marcel Ophüls' monumental epic will be studied and debated for years.

An artistic and intellectual triumph
—Time Magazine

National Society of Film Critics Special Award—A film of extraordinary public interest and distinction

"The Sorrow And The Pity is about four and a half hours...but in terms of moral, intellectual, and emotional absorption, it is one of the best movies of the year."

In case any of the various clubs on campus are wondering why their picture does not appear in the yearbook, please choose the answer which is most correct:

- A. Yearbook contacted you at least 1/2 dozen times and never received a response.
- B. Yearbook's photographer came to take your picture, and you asked if he could come back when your president was there.
- C. You're one of the people who asked, "Since when are clubs in the yearbook?"
- D. All of the above.

* If you answered A, B, C, or D, take your pen and crayons . . . and see that empty box on the opposite page . . . it's all yours!!!

No one has to be told that the Bicentennial has arrived. In fact, it's rather like the plague one tries to avoid but can't. Everything on the market can be purchased in red, white and blue star studded stripes. We are eating, sleeping — living "Bicenten."

It's a shame that many of the little things which really made the country great, are going to be overlooked by the surge of commercialism. The time of the Bicentennial is now. But when will the true celebration begin?

When passing by a mirror, gazing into a lake or maybe simply looking into a rain puddle, a reflection is projected. At a fleeting glance what is seen might be blurred, giving an unclear image. Look closer — is it distorted because the mirror is cracked, or is it because the reflection is incomplete and not yet well defined. Remember, a person is making the reflection; delve into it and search for the real you.

Reflections are somewhat like shadows. Each person's is unique and cannot be duplicated or interchanged. Believe it or not, all of us on this campus has Glassboro State College somehow engulfed in our reflection. Think about it; it may well be the only thing that any of us will ever have in common.

All accomplishments and failures, good times and bad, joys and sorrows, laughter and tears shine back at us in a reflection. Each is competing . . . trying to emerge and stand above the rest. Nothing can be hidden or removed from the image given off by a reflection. Things will only be added to it serving as a highlight.

Webster conveniently describes a reflection as "mental consideration or contemplation." This year's IMAGE has attempted to give cause for a minute's worth of reflection. Hopefully that minute was extended into a few.

Special thanks are extended to the following people for their beneficial contribution to the 1976 IMAGE:

mr. robert collard

mr. james logue, professional photographer "The Studio"

all other publications, especially VENUE, for taking our unending phone messages and to the WHIT — 3 gold stars (we're still ahead by one!!!)

"If there is any truer measure of a person than by what he does, it must be by what he has given"

This feeling is meant for a handful of very unique people who worked with me. Each of them knows who I mean. Thanks for caring enough to give.

Gloria
